Nature Conservation Foundation

RESEARCH ASSISTANT

Bengaluru, IN

Aug 2021–Mar 2023

- Analysed the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on birdwatching and eBird data in India, and its implications for research using this data; wrote up and submitted manuscript to a peer-reviewed journal
- Established a version control (Git/GitHub) workflow for Bird Count India analyses to enable reproducibility as well as transparency
- Created a periodic analysis framework to identify and track regions in India that are most underrepresented in eBird data, in order to identify regions of priority where concerted action (strategised from these metrics) is required
- Created eBirding point maps for the country as well as for each state in India, made easily accessible to users and updated monthly
- Automated several periodically occurring data analysis tasks of Bird Count India (tracking metrics, results of challenges & birding events [post-hoc from EBD and also live summaries using eBird API and R], etc.)
- Improved eBird data quality in India by creating updated and more fine-scale (district-wise) filters for Tripura state
- Assisted birders with their queries regarding eBird data and how to analyse it for their own studies
